BURGLAR and FIRE PROOF
SAFES!

THE undersigned would respectfully call the attention of the public to the above unfailing safeguard of property—proof against the all devouring element of fire as well as the most skilful burglar. To MERCHANTS, JEWELLERS, and BANK DIRECTORS, we would only say, examine them and the proofs, and you will be convinced of their superiority over all other manufacture.

Our business is done in a plain, straightforward way without resorting to humbug or large talk.

Below is one of the many testimonials we are daily receiving from all parts of the country and which speaks for itself. Messrs Pond, & Hitchcock's Oil Store was situated directly under the Pearl st House and was totally consumed in that great fire of August 23d.

New York, Aug 23 1852.

Messrs. Wm. McFarland & Co.

Gents—It affords us pleasure to inform you that the Fire and Burglar Proof Safe we purchased of you preserved our books and papers at the disastrous fire of the Pearl st House, last evening, in the most perfect manner. Although it was covered throughout the fire with burning Rosin, and other Oils and directly under a broken gas pipe, in the most intense heat, it remained true to its name and its contents when taken out were not even scorched, and hardly bore the smell of fire. To any one who is in want of a superior Safe, a perfect safeguard against fire, we cheerfully recommend your manufacture, having had a personal experience of their excellence. Yours truly,
B. F. POND & HITCHCOCK.

SEYMOUR'S GALVANIC
ABDOMINAL SUPPORTER.

THIS apparatus possesses all the mechanical advantages of the Abdominal Supporters now in use, and has some valuable improvements beside the galvanic attachment. It has been tested and approved of and is very generally adopted in the practice of all the leading Physicians in New York, Boston, and all other places where introduced in the treatment of all Nervous diseases which exhibit themselves under so many different heads, and particularly in the care of Uterine difficulties. The beneficial results which have uniformly attended the use of this instrument are a sufficient guaranty of its usefulness and general application. The advantages of this over other Supporters are its superiority, its great lightness, presents a smooth surface that does not retain heat or impurities which pass from the system, and can be kept pure and healthful.

The attention of the medical profession is respectfully solicited to an examination and test of the instrument. The above Supporters are for sale by GEO. W. EMERSON, Druggist, No. 4 Smith's Block, sole agent for Bangor and vicinity.

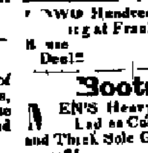
Admirable Invention!
PATENT SELF HEATING
SMOOTHING IRON!



MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century relieving and facilitating the labor of men by machinery, and other modern implements, but females have been nearly neglected until the introduction of the Patent Self Heating Smoothing Iron which will relieve them, in a very great degree, from the excessive and fatiguing labor of Ironing, besides being a great saving of time and expense. This Iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor and dispatch, one cent's worth of dry charcoal supplies fuel for a whole days constant ironing. Hard wood coal from the stove will answer the same purpose. It can be used in any room or in the open air. Hatters' and Tailors' Irons are constructed upon the same principle, and possess equal superiority.

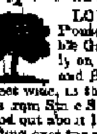
Important Bargains Offered.



LOTS of Land for Rural Dwelling Houses, with large Fruit and Vegetable Gardens adjoining the city, mostly on the continuation of French St and Broadway and a street laid out, 50 feet wide, in the range with Broadway, (as it runs from State Street to the Park.) This street is laid out about 150 rods through my lands, extending over the west end of Mt. Pleasant. This land is north of and much higher than the Park having a commanding view of the city and surrounding country.

Also, land for Gardening and Farming, on the new Stage Road to Oldtown running by Coombs' Mills, situate beyond and near the first considerable elevation, and has a view of some part of the city on its western side. This land is considered as good as the farm on which I live, where I have raised over 40 bushels of wheat to the acre, (as may be seen on the books of the P. A. Society,) and oats, hay and potatoes in that proportion. Some judgment may be formed also of my land for Fruit Trees on my lot near the city, by examining my bearing trees and our Fruit Nurseries.

My land East of the Mills has a considerable growth of wood on it, and some timber for frames. Men can go three times a day, it being one of the easiest roads running out of Bangor.

Liberal credit will be given on it, and the size of the lots made to suit purchasers.
N. HARLOW.
Bangor, March 25, 1854.

☞ Any person, not advanced in life, should appreciate the probable results of a few years good business in Bangor of purchasing land from an original lot beginning at East Market Square, (the northerly part of Lot No. 68, Holland's Plan is referred to,) where three leading and important streets are laid out passing into our great and important northern and western country, he can now do so. These streets will afford some of our finest sites for elegant Houses and valuable Fruit Establishments without exception. It is only a strong wish to be relieved from part of my cares and that of owning business of this kind which could induce me to sell at this time by the quantity.

What is Non-Intervention!

The Nebraska-Kansas bill is not yet exactly buried, though it is dead, but it not so dead that there may not be a resurrection. It has principles of life—living principles—such as "non intervention," "equality and equal rights" for all the States—but its principles of death such as "repudiation," "violation of compact," "bad faith," &c., are so many that for some considerable time yet before it is laid away—as it is now called—is fairly entombed, there will be a good deal of a struggle in the funeral over the critter's dead body.

If Mr Douglas, the father of this Zebra, could give us—if the South would let him give us—the living principle of "non intervention," and at the same time would then repeal the principles involved in the bills of 1850—we think, we of the North could well afford—as a matter of purchasing the repeal of the Missouri anti slavery act, to go for non-intervention. But this bill as it stands now in the House, is a humbug. It is a hoax in the exclusion of its features. It is a lie in the very principle of non intervention itself, for Congressional legislation upon this subject at all is intervention. The application of old Territorial law and restraints from the executive creation of a governor and judges, in Washington, and to all the minuter details of the bill, is intervention, and hence the bill, as a non-intervention bill is one long lingering lengthened lie.

What we mean by non intervention is this: the mere enactment by Congress of a bill organizing the limits and boundaries of the territory, and ordering that the people there form a Legislature there by all the people therein. Whatever white man is there on the day of election—Congress not caring (and Black man too if we would be really non interventionists) should vote for governor and judges, and all other officers—and the Legislature thus chosen, after swearing to support the laws and the constitution of the U. States only Thus elected, should have free, ample and unrestrained power to ordain what ever organic laws they pleased. The majority should be the sovereign power. The territorial constitution thus organized should be the sovereign law. If the people there wanted a negro for governor, they should have him, or if they wanted slavery, they should have it. The people should be supreme. This would be non intervention, and though we believe very little in absurdities such as these, when applied to territories, yet if the South is not contented with the action of 1850 and 1820 then, as a matter of bargain—and, upon these conditions, we are willing to repeal all compromises at once—that is to say, if any of the contemplated changes are to be made we are for the grab game of squatter sovereignty, territorial independence, unlimited territorial independence, unlimited territorial legislation, not only for all Nebraska and Kansas but for Utah, New Mexico, and for Sonora Chihuahua, and Lower California, when we have them. If old things are all to be repudiated and new things taken such a bargain as this with Gen Cass absurdities of squatter sovereignty, fully carried out, we are willing to make provision for our Southern countrymen to insist upon the repeal of the Missouri compromise, and then we would make a charge. But the bill before the House bases these principles of squatter sovereignty and non intervention. With the Southern interpretation of the constitution given it, the bill and the federal constitution itself takes slavery into the territories, in spite of any territorial restrictions, then the repeal of the Missouri Act but establishes slavery there and thus becomes direct intervention.—Mr Badger says this is what the bill means now, even with its proviso,—and, hence, if he is right, the bill is a bill of pro slavery intervention—especially intervening to repeal the existing anti-slavery act. The squatters cannot, in their organic law, rub out the constitution of the United States and hence Gen. Cass squatter sovereignty becomes in the matter of slavery, the merest delusion, provided Mr Badger and the Southern Senators be right.—New York Express.

The Capital of Russia.

St. Petersburg, the present capital of the Russian Empire, now contains a population of about 350,000, is little more than a century old having been founded by Peter the Great in 1703, when he raised with his own hands the first hut, which is still preserved for the inspection of the curious. The first brick house was built in 1710, and in 1712 the residence of the Emperor was transferred from Moscow to the city, which was named St. Petersburg after the patron saint of its founder. The approach of the city is through a wild and desert country. There are no country seats nor gardens in the environs of this town. The steeples are not sufficiently high to be seen at a distance. The entrance is under a wooden barrier, and, for a time, the traveller drives through a street of small wooden houses. Turning an angle, he finds himself on a bridge over the blue Neva, having before him the Admiralty, the winter palace of the Emperor, the Hermitage, the Marble Palace, and a succession of magnificent buildings on the granite quay. No dirty lanes or paltry huts are to be seen, the ground being the property of the Emperor or the nobles.

Most of the original edifices have been destroyed by time or fire, and none of the principal streets are now permitted to be built with wood. The usual material is brick well stuccoed, and the proprietors being compelled to renew the outer wash once a year, the buildings always look new. The modern houses are built on piles, the ground being very marshy. They are lofty and generally handsome, and mostly flat, covered with iron painted red or green. They are all numbered, and the name of the proprietor is on each door, the ground floors are chiefly shops, the first and second floors being occupied by families. The panes of glass in the windows are as large as 6 feet by 4 feet, and upwards, so that each appears a separate window. At the corner of each street is a policeman in a sentry box. Three large and several small canals, studded with bridges of cast iron and granite facilitate the intercourse between the different parts of the city, whose circumference on the banks of the Neva is nearly 20 miles, though scarcely a fourth part of the same is covered with buildings.

The waters of the Neva are perfectly blue and transparent, and reflect the long line of Grecian pillars on the bank. The river at the broadest part is about three quarters of a mile wide and is deep enough for heavy ships, but a bar across the mouth prevents vessels drawing more than seven feet from going up. Near the Isaac bridge in the center of the city, is the famous bronze equestrian statute of Peter the Great, weighing 16 tons, and resting on a piece of granite of nearly 1500 tons, being the largest block ever moved by art.

The royal residences are so numerous that St. Petersburg may be called the city of palaces.

A steamer has arrived at Constantinople from England, with 700 wooden legs.

Aid to the Railroads?

The question that has been agitated among our citizens for several years past as to the propriety and expediency of railroad connection with the railroad system of the continent, and also with the interior of our State is again before them in its full force. Every result that has previously been arrived at has been in favor of such connection. Railroad communication may well be regarded now as a necessity of the age, and essential to the right prosperity of the city. The first steps have been taken in this enterprise. Our citizens have invested their funds in these works in the confident belief that they are absolutely necessary to the welfare of the city. The two roads are now completed, notwithstanding all that has been done, except upon one of two conditions: first, the loan of the city credit, or, second, the slow, lingering process of building the roads by the sale of bonds at a rate of discount so enormous as to sink beyond all redemption the whole of the original stock. This is the best that can be done, and it is even doubtful whether both the roads, for which a loan of the city credit is asked can be built even with the loan of every cent of the original stock. This state of the case certainly makes a very strong appeal in favor of granting the loan of the city credit, as strong indeed, that it seems difficult to conceive how any man can oppose it.

The security of the city, for the amount of the credit asked, is made ample and certain, so that in the worst possible view of the case, and the railroads should fail to make provision for the payment of the scrip as it becomes due, the city takes the whole roads and properties, and the original stock and all for which the credit was given, and cannot fail to get its pay, contingent only upon the question of time.

Just after the State of Massachusetts had granted the loan of its credit to the Western Railroad, we heard politicians in that State address public meetings with the whining complaint that she farms and houses, the stores and property of all the citizens of the State were mortgaged. It may be that would hear that same long song here. But Massachusetts has never had to pay the first red cent to lift that mortgage, nor will Bangor be called upon to pay the first cent, or increase her taxes a mill, on account of granting this loan of her credit. It is no new or strange or doubtful experiment or innovation. It is not giving money to a pauper, nor promoting an enterprise that has no basis in its own capital.

Portland granted the loan of her credit, and assisted of being hopelessly sunk in debt and the mortgages foreclosed upon the property of the citizens, she has moved quietly and safely along and has been relieved from her debt, and even grown rich by the operation. Augusta and Hallowell and Gardiner and Richmond and Brunswick and Bath have all granted the loan of their credit for even less prospective benefit than Bangor has opening before her.

The special conditions of security upon which the loan of credit would be granted in aid of the construction of the two railroads was fixed upon and adjusted by large committees of our most intelligent, sagacious and prudent business men. Their plan was adopted by large meetings of our citizens, and the question now is whether for the great objects to be attained, the certainty and strength of the security offered, the citizens of Bangor will grant the loan of the city credit. It cannot be that they will now faultily all their previous action, and defeat the great and hopeful enterprise of the construction of these two railroads by refusing to grant the loan of the city credit.

As we have referred to the bill, approved by our citizens before its enactment by the legislature, we may as well say here that we have had an opportunity to examine and compare the law with the bill, and we find that the only alteration, except as some verbal one of no consequence, is in the second section, which we here insert as it now stands in the law, to that any one can compare with the original bill published in our columns on the 6th of January last.

SECTION 2. If this act shall be accepted as hereinafter provided, and said company shall within three years from its approval, produce evidence satisfactory to the mayor and aldermen of said city for the time being that the sum of $500,000 has been collected from the subscriptions to the stock of said company, and paid in and actually expended in the construction of their road and the purchase of the right of way, then such fact shall be certified by the mayor and aldermen to the city treasurer, and he shall forthwith issue to the directors of said company, for the purpose of completing said road, the scrip of said city, payable to the holders thereof at the expiration of twenty years from the date thereof, in the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, with coupons for interest attached, payable semi-annually: Provided, however, that the whole amount of said scrip shall not exceed the said sum of $750,000. And provided further, that said scrip of $500,000 may be subdivided and issued in lieu thereof in such sums as the parties may deem expedient.

We learn that there were no alterations in the bill for the Main and Lincoln road loan.

It appears, then, that the questions upon which the voters of Bangor are to act on the eighth of May, are substantially the same as those upon which they have previously acted and settled in favor of granting the loan.

☞ We publish to-day the card of Dr. McRuer, who has returned to the city from a visit for the restoration of his health, which had been greatly impaired by excessive professional labors. His practice will now be limited as his medical advisers announce it dangerous for him to ride. Dr. McRuer's numerous friends will be glad to learn that he cannot consent quite yet to give up entirely his practice in which he has so long been engaged. We fear that in beginning again he will do too much, and thus inflict an irreparable injury to his health and prospects of life.

☞ Rev. Theodore Parker is to deliver two lectures at the City Hall, commencing on this (Tuesday) evening and closing to-morrow evening. This is a ticket course, and will doubtless be well attended, as Mr. Parker has a reputation which attracts hearers from a variety of motives. He is always able, always fearless, though probably not always right.

☞ The Portland Board of Trade have recently appointed a committee to confer with the several railroads, connecting with that city, in regard to the extra through passengers, without actual swing depassengers to and from Portland and to seek to effect a change by which any passenger may stop at any and every station on the road without an increase of price. It is a good movement.

☞ The Providence R. I. Journal in announcing the death of Nehemiah Rice Knight who died at Providence April 18 gives a record of his political career. He was Governor of Rhode Island longer than any other man. He was a consistent patriotic, progressive man, devoted to public duties, and received the public confidence. He died at the age of seventy-four years.

☞ We learn that Mr. Pickering President of the Penobscot and Kennebec Railroad Company notified the directors of that Company at their meeting in January that he intended to resign, but they requested him to continue in till the first of April, when he sent in his resignation in writing.

☞ The New York Tribune states that a lawyer of Boston was confined in the Tombs in that city, on Monday night, for being drunk and disorderly in a public house. The next morning he was fined and discharged.

☞ The ice started yesterday from below the Penobscot bridge and settled down opposite Fleming's ship yard. Navigation will probably be clear before Thursday at noon.

☞ We return our thanks to Hon. Edward Kent, and Hon. I. Washburn Jr., and Hon. John P. Peaseden for public documents and favors.

☞ One-fifth of the sugar and molasses produced in the United States, is disposed of in the markets of Cincinnati.

☞ The Mercury gives the following account relative to the crew of the schooner Manhasset, accounts of whose wreck we have published:

Captain Henry Field, leaves a wife and one child. The mate, Capt. Luther Sargent, leaves one child and two children. Among the others lost were Hiram H. Pease, aged about 20 years, and Joseph Rogers of about the same age.—These all belonged to Brewer. The survivor, George Griffin, is a Nova Scotian, but has made his home in Brewer. The names of the rest of the crew, if there were others, are unknown.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

Your correspondent, who made his appearance in the Whig of yesterday, under the signature of "A Citizen of Bangor," seems to have neglected the important duty of "posting himself up" in regard to facts touching the matter upon which he writes, to such an extent as to lead one to doubt of his right to the name and signature. That he is not "a citizen of Bangor," is fully to be inferred from his grossness of the facts touching; such an important matter as that upon which all our citizens feel so deep an interest; and had he come "from" he should have known that the "City Council have not diverted the appropriations to their end with so little opposition as he represented, but quite the contrary, a very large majority of the people were opposed to the diversion of the funds from the purposes for which they were appropriated, and which has "never been published" and Auditor's report has been published nearly four months ago in the city papers, as required by the ordinance of which citizens are aware, which was passed by the Legislature with but one amendment of importance, and that not affecting the security of the city. If I had been, he should also have known that such "not happened to get the notice for said meeting was accidentally handed over to the City Clerk to be published sooner than was intended by the City Council to have been done," inasmuch as "said notice" was issued officially by his Honor the Mayor and Aldermen on the 28th day of March last, (more than five weeks since) to the City Constables and posted up at the several places of Ward meetings at that time.

"A Citizen of Bangor" shall continue to be slow in arriving at facts which shall enable him to "not unfrequently" in the premises, as he has been hitherto, the six months after the said act took its acceptance by the city, will be far too brief for the purpose.

A VOTER.

☞ The following letter, and the introduction, are published in the National Intelligencer:

An interesting memorial!

People are in the habit of expressing surprise at any eccentricity of the weather; such, for instance, as the heavy snow storm of last Saturday yesterday. The annexed news, handed us by a friend, while it will remind our readers of a similar meteorological incident five years ago, presents an interesting memorial of a distinguished statesman who hardly ever perused an ordinary note without crossing some fact or a suggestive and instructive:

To the Editor of the National Intelligencer:

Dear Sir. These very few words of yesterday. The snow storm will delay our departure for Nashville, and I am to be happy to see General Mason any time to-day.

The 9th of April, 1775, was so hot a day that many British soldiers, on their return from the "second flight," fell down on the church, quite to recorde, and others killed the tongue like sun-beaten cattle and dogs. Here we are, on the same day, four degrees further south, in the 36th M of 4 snow storm.

Very truly, DAN'L. WEBSTER.

Mr. Graham.

Millard Fillmore.

It is gratifying to observe the unbought and unsolicited attestation which is now being paid to ex-President Fillmore during his progress through the South. It is not only a source of pleasure, but of good omen, that, since it warms the demagogue that real devotion to the interest of the whole republic, such as that gentleman exhibited in his administration brings after it the most estimable reward—the permanent respect and approbation of the country. No faithful servant or patriot ever by party, especially as he forgets principle, can ever hope to secure the rich recompenses of his country's gratitude. The honors and affections belong only to the impartial, high-minded statesman, and first and ultimate ruler of the national affairs, who with undeviating integrity pursues the right, whatever may be its consequences and whatever they befall.—Richmond Republican.

The conduct of Millard Fillmore thus receives the favorable verdict of his fellow citizens in their face.—Newark Advertiser.

On the 4th instant two war steamers, built for the Czar by Mr. Fletcher of Northfleet, on the Thames, were seized by the authorities.—The ships, though not before it was thought, were finished, or nearly so, and the builder was never paid for them. Perhaps he is on Russian ground.

XXIIIth CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, April 21.

HOUSE.

The House took up the consideration of the Senate bill to compensate the discoverer of practical Anæsthesia. After discussion the bill was laid on the table—years 82, nays 46.

Mr McDonald reported a bill for the transportation of weekly mails from New York, Baltimore and New Orleans to San Francisco; and back the entire cost on which is not to exceed $250,000 per annum. The consideration of the bill postponed to the 8th of June.

The House went into committee in the private calendar, and then adjourned to Monday.

☞ The New York Shipping List, in speaking of the European war as affecting American securities, money, &c., says:

"This subject is attracting no little attention in financial circles here, just now. It is very evident, if the war is to go on, that Great Britain will have but little money to spare for investment in American securities, and fears are entertained, by some, that large quantities of stocks and bonds now held abroad, may be returned to this country for redemption as in which case, it is alleged, a pressure in the money-market amounting almost to a panic, would most probably ensue. The rates of interest in England and on the continent, for the past two or three years, (and within the past six or eight months,) ruled as low as two to three per cent., which caused large remittances of capital to this country for investment in our various securities. The better demand for money here, and the better returns for the use of it, were the sole causes why so many millions of foreign treasure found its way to our shores. Capital, like any article of traffic, seeks the best markets, and its tendency is always to flow most freely to those points where it is most required and where it consequently finds the best returns. It is in this fulfillment of the law of trade, that foreign capital to an unlimited extent, so light employment in this country during the few years past; and the influence of so large an addition of wealth to the financial resources of the country, has been seen in the stimulus it has imparted to every branch of trade and industry. Money has been for some months past, steadily appreciating in value in London, and the rates now being as high, or higher, than in this country may be an inducement for some parties to withdraw their capital from the United States for home investments.—But if this country maintains a strict neutrality in regard to affairs abroad, it is not very probable that any great amount of capital will be withdrawn from us, on the contrary, we think the chances are in favor of a flow of capital in this direction, after actual hostilities shall have been commenced. The amount of stocks returned to this country for redemption has, we understand, been quite limited thus far, and fully counterbalanced by the new orders received."

Turkey has been subjected to the same condescensions in her treaty with Russia, which were sought to be imposed on her by the insolent Menschikoff, the insolent tool of the insolent Czar. It is in this treaty stipulated that henceforth, in course of justice to Turkey, the oaths of the Koran and the Mussulmans are to be of equal force. Heretofore, in no case has a Russian been received against a Mussulman. Another stipulation is said to place these two classes on equal ground as to the purchasing and holding of real estate. Russia not being permitted to purchase Mussulman property without a written order, in each case, from the Sultan—a thing always difficult and sometimes impossible to obtain. And it is even reported that the capitation tax (called the Khuraj) which is perhaps the most odious of all the distinctions established by Mohammedan law, between Mussulmans and Rayahs is to be abolished. These are substantially the same conditions which the Czar sought at tourmpose; but could not be established. Russia was plainly aiming at hoisting out her own aggrandizement. She cared not a fig for the liberty of the Greek subjects of the Porte; and if she were to get possession of Turkey, she would soon reduce them to a slavery which they do not know under the Turks. Who can believe that the Russian autocrat sincerely desires that liberty in Turkey which he so cordially hates in his own country, and would if he could, repel from all Europe! But Eng and and France, by inserting such conditions in the new treaty, are evidently seeking to benefit Turkey, and not to accomplish any selfish or ambitious purpose. They wish to place the Christian population of Turkey on such a footing as to remove all grounds for the future complaints or interference of Russia! When these changes shall be fully completed, and in deed as well as in word the Rayahs of Turkey, (that is, the Christians, so called, of every name, and the Jews) shall be placed on an equality with the Mohammedans, then will the Koran have ceased to be the basis of political and civil law and Turkey will no longer be a Mohammedan power.—Lowell Courier.

Fashion.

The Home Journal, in a homily upon "The ways of Tailors," shows up some of the tricks of the trade:

"Tailors must live: at least, they think so and we have no objection. Yet they are great tyrants, and have ingenious ways of torturing their victims. One way is this. They invent a fashion which is strikingly peculiar, and put it into vogue by various arts he's known to them selves, for example, very shy overcoats, with long waists, which look well on men like Count Rossi, whose figure is faultless. Their next movement, after everybody is overcoated for the winter, it is to bring out a garment which differs as much as possible from the one in fashion; that is an overcoat with skirts to the heels, and waist under the arm-pits. They get half a dozen men of high fashion, who look well in anything, to parade this new invention in Broadway, and make the short coated majority, appear out of date. The manœuvre succeeds; all the dandies are driven to the extravagance of ordering a superfluous coat: the tailors smile, and the dancies bleed for their fathers did. Some time ago our tailor tyrants put us all into long waistcoats, and, consequently, into continuations that just lapped over the tops. Suddenly the waistcoats were abbreviated four inches. What was the consequence? Why, of course the continuations failed to connect, and he who would not exhibit to mankind a broad belt around his waist, was compelled to discard all his store of well saved unmentionables. And in vain shall the oldest customer protest and order garments of the last fashion. Consid ering my reputation, sir, says the tailor, with the air of offended Majesty."

Bitter.

An instance of the bitter hatred felt by the Circassians towards the Russians, it is stated that a few years ago, a slave ship sprung a leak out at sea, just as a Russian steamer passed in the distance. The Turkish slave dealer, who preferred the cold blast of Siberia, to a grave ever in deep water, made signal of distress, and the steamer came up in time to rescue the ship and its living cargo from destruction. But so deeply is hatred implanted in every Circassian heart, that the spirit of the girls rose at the thought of becoming the helpmates of grey-coated soldiers, instead of sharing the sumptuous couch of Turkish pachas. They had bid adieu to their native mountains with little emotion, but as the Russians approached, they set up a terrible and despairing scream. Some sprang headlong into the sea, others drove their knives into their hearts; to those heroines death was preferable to the bridal bed of a detested Muscovite. The survivors were taken to Russia, and married to Cossacks, or given to officers as servants.

Information Wanted.

ON the 11th of April inst. Melissa Jane Patten, daughter of Charles W. Patten, of Bradley, left the house of Mr. Adam Blackman in Bradley, where she had been living for nearly a year for the concealed purpose of visiting her mother, who was on a visit to the child's grand-father in Etna, her husband being in the woods. Melissa started for school, as the family supposed, but revealed her purpose to a school mate she met on the road, since which nothing has been heard or can be learned regarding her. She was thirteen years of age, very straight, large of her age, with blue eyes and brown hair, round favored and small features; wore a dark delaine dress, old hood and a faded shawl, her poorest school dress.

Whoever will give information where Melissa may be found, or where she may have been seen, will confer a great favor on an afflicted and anxious family. Intelligence may be directed to the office of the Bangor Courier.

Now then, if you wish to remove all these, together with humors in the Blood and Skin, take Dr. Langley's Root and Herb Bitters—at least one or two bottles. They always do good and never hurt. Let each and every man, woman and child have a bottle at only 25 cents for a pint, 37½ cents for a quart bottle.

Now, Nature, herself, a sure remedy brings,
Which clears the current of the life at its springs.
From four of all Diseases that bear on the frame
Langley's Root and Herb Bitters ... infallibly save.
There's scarcely a dangerous disease we can name,
To which the Root and Herb Bitters have not achieved fame.
And so safe in their action, they cannot do harm,
With they strengthen the system and act like a charm.
Are you Temperance folks—then this medicine will need
No drink alcoholic to help it indeed,
You need the fluid itself ... a tonic also in,
To the tenderest infant it cannot do harm.
In your Liver diseased or if in Jaundice your fee!
Then Langley's will deal both, as ... a blow;
... Headache—will give you relief;
For Piles ... all cures acknowledged the chief;
The ... of "Buy me and I'll do you good,"
... experience has easily understood.
And many ... this test ... will appeal,
That the Root and Herb Bitters is every one's friend.
... take
... cleanse your cheek, or your steak;
The Blood will purify—redde your cheek,
And strong and youth frame of body if ever grow weak,
The Ladies declare no such Remedy's known,
And the say ... ½ the Sex alone!
No ... Bitters make ...
Bring ... to your eye!

Sold in Bangor, wholesale and retail, by Ingraham & Fuller, Guild & Harlow, and by all Druggists and dealers in Medicine in Bangor, Orono, Oldtown, Stillwater, Hampden, Frankfort, and Bucksport at 25 cents a pint and 37½ cents for a quart bottle.

AYER'S PILLS.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. [illegible]
